

When I heard those three little words: you. have. cancer. I was scared, numb, overwhelmed and I felt lonely. I became a robot; doing what I needed to do each day just to get through. During treatment, I felt a fire burning in my soul. A calling. An awakening. I wanted more. More spirituality, more adventure, more love, more of what this life has to offer. I became a yes girl and stopped letting fear hold me back. Each of us must discover our own path; to find our new normal. While there are many similarities to our stories, we each are so unique. With this in mind, we created an experience for women to be vulnerable and open. We present the atmosphere, but it is because of their bravery, they create for themselves a life-changing experience.

We are asking for help creating this experience for 20 lucky gynecologic cancer survivors. Attendees are invited to spend a long weekend in the majestic, awe-inspiring mountains of North Carolina. Upon arrival, they will join with fellow Divas who have traveled and survived similar journeys. Together letting go of their worries and enjoying a few days of sister bonding. This retreat is provided at no cost to gynecologic cancer survivors, thanks to generous sponsors and donors.

We will be documenting this retreat as a marketing tool. Here is a look at our 2021 retreat video: https://youtu.be/VvNIJ_bj3D8.

Thank you for your consideration.
